

Please be advised that my entire household- myself (age 49), Wife (age 40), son & stepson (both age 23), stepdaughter (age 19) and stepson (age 15) all vehemently oppose any changes to the law covering Indiana's "No-Call" Telephone Privacy Law. With 3 college students and a teenage son, our time together is precious and rare. Since I added our phone numbers to the Privacy List, the number of unsolicited, unwelcome and unnecessary interruptions have been minimized. This is our home- we should be able to control who ever has entry, be it through the doors or the phone lines. Doing business with a company- especially a bank and its' subsidiaries does not give that business the right to call any of my telephones.
